

IWO JIMA INVADED BY YANKS

If you don't believe the railroads are all mixed up with each others freight cars, just take a look at the cars as a freight passes through on any road.

It is amazing to see the number of cars from widely separated roads that are in these trains.

I have called your attention to it once before, but so you will realize more fully just how widely railroad cars are scattered from their home roads, let me tell you that in a long B. and O. freight that held me up at a street crossing a few days ago, there were just four B. and O. cars.

If I had not looked at the locomotive as it was passing and noted that it was a B. and O. engine, I could not have told from the cars in the train what road the train was on.

Judging by reports of local citizens who have been fortunate to get outside of Fayette County by automobile in recent weeks, and some from outside of the county who are observant, that armful of American Beauty Roses should go to the State Highway Department crew in Fayette County and the county and township highway crews for their notable work of clearing the roads during the long weeks of ice and snow.

They invariably agree that Fayette County roads have been, and are right now, in better condition than most of the roads in the surrounding counties and in various parts of the state.

"I came into the county from the north and it looked like God's country the moment I drove over the line into Fayette County" one observer told me.

"In several counties before I reached Fayette," he continued, "the entire surface of the road had not been freed of ice and snow, and much of the road was not in as good condition as the paving in Fayette County. Your road officials have done a fine piece of work, and my hat is off to them."

By frequent checking as to condition of the roads, I know that the various road crews considering what they were up against in the way of inadequate equipment and constant demands for long hours of overtime to keep the roads open and in good condition, performed a wonderful piece of work.

On some of the roads where snow after snow was turned to ice, it was impossible to clear the roads of the accumulation which in places reached 10 inches in thickness.

Monday, for the first time since December 10, the surface of some of the township roads was showing through the ice sheet that has covered them for more than two months duration.

ABDUCTOR OF GIRL ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Thomas McDonald of Dayton, Ohio, accused of the abduction of a 21-year-old girl, was a patient today in Glendale Hospital after attempting to end his life in the Marshall County jail.

Physicians at the hospital said the 50-year-old grandfather charged with kidnapping Jane Paynter of Cameron is expected to recover.

Prosecutor J. K. Chase said McDonald slashed his wrists, drank a quantity of heart medicine and then stood at the head of a jail stairway defying attendants to move toward him. Weakened from loss of blood, McDonald soon showed signs of collapse and State Trooper A. G. Wright took the razor away from him.

LA GUARDIA HEADS OHIO MENTAL DISEASE GROUP

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Welfare Director Frazier Reams announced today the appointment of Dr. Attilio Laguardia of New York as assistant commissioner of mental diseases for Ohio.

The assistant commissioner, whose salary will be $7,200, will begin work March 1.

Dr. Laguardia now is assistant director of Rockland Hospital in New York, one of the largest mental institutions in the country. Previously he was on the staff of Bellevue Hospital in New York City.

FREED NATIONS DEMANDING FOOD OF UNCLE SAM

George Bill Is Passed by House To Open Door to Wallace Appointment

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(AP)—A showdown appears to be developing over Anglo-American failure to provide adequate food, clothing and other supplies for the liberated countries of Europe.

That is the interpretation placed here on the hue and cry which has been raised in London this week over the asserted shortcomings of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration in the situation. Involved are questions of relief for France, Belgium and those sections of the Netherlands from which the enemy has been cleared.

The attacks on UNRRA are puzzling to the agency's international officials here because UNRRA actually is not responsible, under its regulations, for providing supplies to the western European countries.

Both American and UNRRA officials agree that this is the task of the Anglo-American military command. The assumption here is that the London criticisms of the relief administration are intended simply to use it as a "whipping boy" for the fact that—despite elaborate plans which were laid down by the military and the western European administrations last summer—enough supplies have not been going through.

Door Opened to Wallace
Only time, a stroke of the president's pen and some debate in the Senate today appeared to separate Henry A. Wallace from a cabinet post.

Congress let down the last practical bar to his confirmation as secretary of commerce when the House passed and sent to the White House the George bill shearing the multi-billion dollar lending agencies from the Commerce Department.

President Roosevelt has promised to let the bill become law—an action without which the former vice president admittedly could not be confirmed. With that accomplished, effective Senate opposition appeared almost certain to collapse.

The Senate has agreed to vote March 1 on the appointment. Before it does, there is likely to be more talk by those members who don't want the CIO-supported former vice president to hold any job where his salary is met by the taxpayers.

Although they succeeded in blocking him out of a place where he would have had an important part in spending the taxpayers' money, some of his opponents were not yet willing to give up.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Republican steering committee, said:

"I am just as much opposed to confirmation of Mr. Wallace as I was before."

MIAMI PRESIDENT DIES ON CAMPUS

Death Comes on Anniversary Of University's Founding

OXFORD, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Dr. Alfred H. Upham, president of Miami University since 1928, died early today a few hours after he had suffered a heart attack at his home.

He was 67 years old.

Dr. Upham was alone when he was stricken. His wife was in Chicago with their daughter, Mrs. Howard A. Offers, to whom a daughter had been born early this month.

When he became ill Dr. Upham telephoned Dr. John D. Schowald, head of the campus health service, who rushed him to the University Hospital. He died a short time later.

Dr. Upham's death occurred on the 136th anniversary of the founding of Miami University. The school was opened Feb. 17, 1809.

Corridor Assaulted by Both American Paratroopers and Seaborne Forces While Iwo Jima Being Attacked Far to North—Terrific Aerial and Naval Bombardment Paves Way for Both Operations—Yanks Continue Battle Against Suicide Forces In Manila—Tokyo Still Being Smashed by Bombers, Superforts

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
By The Associated Press

American assault forces landed today on Corregidor at the entrance to Manila Bay and on Iwo Island, 750 miles south of Tokyo, Japanese broadcasts reported while 1,500 U. S. carrier planes pummeled the Tokyo Metropolitan area for the second successive day.

Paratroopers drifted down on Corregidor while waves of landing barges poured troops on the beach, radio Tokyo said.

Unconfirmed Japanese broadcasts said "fierce battles are raging on the southern shores" of the rock, opposite Bataan which Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced was recaptured in an amphibious and land operation.

Antiaircraft batteries on "The Rock" were silenced more than a week ago by heavy daily U. S. bombing attacks. Big guns were knocked out in combined air and naval bombardments preceding Thursday's amphibious landing on southern Bataan Peninsula, across a narrow strait from Corregidor.

Control of both Bataan, announced in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Saturday communique, and Corregidor, would reopen Manila Bay and recaptured Cavite Naval Base to the U. S. fleet.

Naval Bombardment
The reported invasion of Iwo came on the heels of a two-day naval bombardment that Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said had silenced all coastal batteries.

A Japanese Imperial communique telling of the invasion asserted the first two assault waves were repulsed. It claimed five American warships—a battleship, two cruisers and two unidentified—were sunk in the "furious naval gun" bombardment of Iwo, largest of the Volcano Islands.

Another enemy communique asserted one U. S. warship was set ablaze and 147 American planes shot down in raids on the Tokyo Metropolitan area which were carried on so relentlessly, the controlled press suggested they were a prelude to invasion of Japan itself. The Emperor's high command admitted loss of 61 aircraft.

Radio Tokyo reported 200 carrier planes extended the raids of Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's forces today to Hachijo Jima in the Izo Islands, 200 miles south of the Nipponese capital.

Superforts pilots had reported the airfields stretching from Tokyo to Yokohama were speckled with flames and columns of smoke.

All of the Japanese reports of invasion and extension of air assaults lacked confirmation. Tokyo is usually first to report these developments.

Tokyo Attack Continues
At Tokyo 1500 refueled planes from the world's largest flotilla of aircraft carriers hovering 300 miles off Japan's coast swept in for the second straight day to rekindle raging industrial fires in the capital.

The Tokyo domestic radio issued the startling warning to the Japanese people that the Americans "may attempt to come near the homeland at two points, the eastern land arm of Tokyo Bay."

Frantic appeals were issued for "total effort of the government and the people" urging them "at this time to make still more firm the air-light defense structure of our land."

Tokyo broadcasts shortly after noon made it clear today's attack already has exceeded five hours.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced resumption of the Tokyo attacks in a brief communique today.

"Carrier aircraft of the fifth fleet are continuing to attack the Tokyo area," he said.

Ohio Air Battle Rages Between Weather Forces

(By the Associated Press)

A battle between two air masses, fronting roughly along the Ohio River line, worked its way eastward today (Sat). To the north of the line was cold near zero; to the south warmer weather with rain and snow, while in the battle area was rain, snow, sleet and thunderstorms.

In the east the point of contact made a huge loop northward with some cold weather forecast for New England on the heels of temperatures which turned streets to slush. New York City reached a maximum of 53, but was expected to drop to 25 or 20 above. Philadelphia reported 55 with 28 to 36 in prospect for today.

In the midwest along the Ohio the temperatures were expected to reach 20—but were preceded by rain which turned to snow in the battle of the elements.

Eight to 12 inches of snow fell in central Missouri, while the southern portion of the state reported rain.

The coldest spots were in the north where Minnesota reported five to 10 below.

Nebraska reported six below in the north to 18 above in the south. Iowa had a range of 3 to 19 above, while Illinois recorded ten above in the north to 32 above in the south.

Below the aerial front line—in the south—showers and thunderstorms were general. Maximum temperatures were in the 60's.

DIPLOMATIC MIMIC NABBED IN OHIO

CLEVELAND, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Robert Hollander, of Seattle, was held here today on federal charges of impersonating a Nicaraguan diplomat and cashing two spurious checks at Canton, the FBI office said today.

An FBI officer said Hollander was known variously as Victor Gluck, Martin Gruenborn, Martin Robert Gruenborn, Robert Nagel, Victor Hillman and Robert West-offen, and was arrested February 9 in Seattle, where he lived under the name of Gruenborn.

Hollander admitted, the FBI officer said, that he masqueraded in Canton in March, 1944, as a vice consul of the Nicaraguan legation, and cashed two worthless checks.

SATURDAY NIGHT BATHS ALL RIGHT IN COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Residents of this capital city can engage in their usual Saturday night ablutions with a clearer conscience.

City officials have lifted restrictions on the use of water which had been in effect since late January due to the low level of reserve supplies in the two dams which feed the city's water system.

FOOT-THICK ICE IS CUT FROM SANDUSKY BAY

SANDUSKY, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Lay Brothers Fisheries, Inc., are storing 4,000 tons of ice now being cut in Sandusky Bay. The foot-thick ice will be used in shipping fish next summer.

Dutch Officer Held For Tip-Off On Arnhem

LONDON, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The Tower of London confines a Dutch officer accused by the British government of tipping off the Germans to the Arnhem airborne attack which collapsed after an eight-day battle last September.

He is awaiting trial for treason on charges of betraying Allied military secrets to the enemy.

On the officer, whose name was withheld, Britain may seek to place the principal blame for the failure of the assault, at a cost of more than 6,000 of its 8,000 men.

From a London informant came this story of how the officer was captured:

Early last August there reported to Dutch resistance liaison officers a man they trusted on the basis of three years of effective underground work. He offered to bear messages to resistance representatives within Holland by sneaking through German lines.

Among the secret messages from London was one advising the Dutch underground of the pending Arnhem invasion.

He had crossed to Allied lines when underground forces struck in cooperation with the British attack.

He came under scrutiny of intelligence men, however, and soon sufficient evidence piled up to warrant his arrest. He was flown to Britain on orders of supreme headquarters.

OHIOANS VOTED LIKE THIS ON GEORGE BILL MOTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Ohio's four Democrats voted with the majority in the House yesterday against a motion to recommit the George bill separating the RFC from the Commerce Department. Sixteen Ohio Republicans voted for the motion.

Opposing the motion were Reps. Robert Crosser, Michael Feighan, Michael Kirwan and Edward Thom. Republicans for the motion here were Representatives George Bender, Walter Brehm, Clarence Brown, Clift Clevenger, Charles Elston, P. W. Griffiths, William Hess, Thomas Jenkins, Robert Jones, Earl Lewis, Edward McCowen, J. Harry McGregor, Homer Ramey, Frederick Smith, John Vorys, and Alvin Weichel.

'Bazooka Mouth' Sings Like He Fights

Spirit of Bronx Composes To Accompaniment of Noisy Tank - But Forgets Song Hits

By HAL BOYLE.
IN GERMANY—(AP)—They call him "Bazooka Mouth" and "The Man with the Iron Lungs" and he is the only native-born calypso singer the American Army has produced.

Capt. Max Zero, known as "Maxie" from Gafsa to Fellenkirchen, is just one of many reasons why the First Infantry Division is the most distinctive unit under the flag.

Maxie is the spirit of the Bronx—boisterous, noisy, good-natured and ready to fight or sing with anybody. And when Maxie shifts with grinding gears from bass to three octaves above soprano, cowering Germans shiver in terror at this latest American horror weapon.

Maxie is shaped like a barrel on two tree stumps and is muscled like a Roman gladiator. He used to play football for New York University and he taught physical training in New York City high schools.

Like Trinidad's calypso singers, Maxie can vocalize on any subject at any time, making up the words and the tune as he goes along.

He has written words and music for three and two halves songs—"two halves aren't finished yet"—and his worst trouble is that his best efforts were never recorded. Maxie spins off a song with an armor-piercing voice on quivering tangents. Next day, when friends ask him to set down the words and music, Maxie grins sheepishly and says, "I forgot them already."

New Battle Rages On Road to Berlin

DRIVE IN WEST GATHERS POWER ON NORTH END

Allied Aerial Assault in Fourth Day of Support Of Ground Attacks

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
(By the Associated Press)

A violent battle was reported raging some 60 miles southeast of Berlin today between reinforced German divisions and units of two great Russian armies which the Germans said linked up 36 miles northeast of bomb-blasted, traffic-jammed Cottbus, rail hub on Berlin's Spree River.

A hundred miles southeast of this area Soviet siege guns poured shells into completely ringed Breslau, biggest Nazi city yet to come under direct assault by any Allied army. Drachenbrunn, southeast suburb, has been seized. An enemy broadcast said the decisive battle for the Silesian capital of 630,000 on the Oder had begun.

Bombing Continues
Allied bombers were reported over western Germany again today, blasting resistance ahead of advancing ground forces, in the fourth straight day of the air offensive. Berlin said a formation near Koblenz on the Rhine.

About 1,700 U. S. and British heavies, including a force of Italian-based Fortresses which struck the Regensburg factory where German jet-propelled planes are turned out, ranged unmolested over a wide area of Germany yesterday.

The Regensburg assault cost the enemy a number of jet fighters which were caught on the ground, the Mediterranean air force announced.

Since Tuesday night, close to 7,000 four-engined bombers have poured thousands of tons of explosives on at least 25 German cities in the most furious sustained assault of the war.

Western Front
On the Western Front, Allied troops, advancing with renewed momentum, moved closer to Goch and Calcar. German bastions southeast of Kleve, while elsewhere on the blazing northern battlefield gains of as much as two miles were rolled up. Goch and Calcar were pounded by Allied guns and mortars, and the Goch-Calcar road severed in two places.

Gen. H. D. G. Czerar's forces, disclosed to be 75 percent British units operating with the Canadian First Army, have taken 6,900 prisoners since the opening of this offensive nine days ago.

German civilians were said to be streaming from the battle area to seek haven behind Allied lines as elements of some eight Nazi divisions were hurled against the British-Canadian drive. The increased Nazi resistance and mud churned into quagmires by armored vehicles have limited gains to yards in the push toward the northern entrance to the Ruhr at Wesel, now 17 miles away.

Hundreds of medium bombers and fighterbombers, part of a fleet of more than 3,500 Allied planes that hit enemy supply lines all along the Western Front and targets deeper in Germany yesterday, aided the northern offensive.

Reds Blast New Path
Red Army heavy artillery and bombers, a Moscow dispatch said, blasted the Neisse River fortress town of Guben as Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian Army closed in from three sides on the vital position in the German line 60 miles southeast of Berlin.

Convicted of Murder
HAMILTON, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Frank Muncie, 39, was convicted of first degree murder yesterday in the shotgun slaying last November of John Allen, 45, following a cafe fight. The jury recommended mercy.

DOWN ON THE FARM

By THOMAS E. BERRY

FAT EWES

You can have them too fat. Farmers who have had much experience with sheep will tell you that. I recall being on a farm where the ewes were fat enough to butcher, and the owner was expecting a big lamb crop, but he didn't have it. Instead he had a lot of trouble with swollen udders; ewes hot and feverish at lambing time, and some of them would not own their lambs.

It is wise to feed ewes so they are "in good flesh," but not fat; then about ten days before the lambs are born, it is a good plan to reduce the grain ration, and to increase the wheat bran, so as to make the ration more laxative. That is the way father fed ewes, and he had some very good lamb crops. The best one we had from a small flock that we separated from a larger one, was 25 lambs from 12 ewes, and they raised them, with some help from us with one of them, until he learned to "board around" for his living. It was interesting to watch him do this. When twins reported for their meals, he was pretty apt to beat one of them to the ewe, and then the other one had to wait a few minutes, until he had eaten. This extra lamb was not as large as the others, but he lived, and did his part in making the unusual lamb record with the flock.

TRAPPER ON THE AFTERNOON RUN

I slowed down my car to watch a trapper going slowly up the creek on the "afternoon run" as we used to refer to the afternoon trip made setting traps. This was always a pleasant trip. If the weather wasn't too cold and stormy, and if it was, we learned that it was not much use to set the traps.

A neighbor, who had had a lot of experience trapping, went with us on one afternoon trip, and showed us how to set our traps so that we would get a bigger catch. One thing he showed us was how to trap muskrats in deep water. "Don't try to set it in the hole in the bank under the water, for most rats will swim over the trap, but find where they slide down the bank, and set right at the foot of the slide and just under the water, making sure that the trap has a good firm place, so it won't be knocked over in the slide," he said, and then he set some traps for us. We hadn't been able to catch the "deep water" rats, but we got two the first night, and many later in the season.

When you are making the "afternoon run" look for the slides and try this method of setting the trap at the foot of them and you'll be well pleased with the catch.

A HARD WINTER ON HOGS

"How are you getting along this winter?" That's a question I asked a farmer last week, who always winters a lot of hogs.

"Oh, all right, I reckon," he replied. "I'm having the most trouble with the hogs. This has been a hard winter on hogs."

Then he said that he was having trouble in getting them to drink enough water, when they were on the feeders, so he was doing some slopping. Even the slopped hogs are not doing as well as they should, and they spend too much time in the nests.

I suggested feeding some shock corn to them for the noon meal, and feeding it some distance from the nests, so that they would be compelled to take some exercise, going to and from the corn and doing their own husking. One of the most successful men with hogs I have ever known, used this plan for years. Try it if the stock hogs are not doing very well, and are

GRANGE RESOLUTION

Resolution adopted by Fayette County Pomona Grange No. 29 at meeting February 8, 1945, by unanimous vote (of 91 members present):

Whereas, it has never been satisfactorily explained how the war effort was ever benefited by this so-called "Daylight Savings Time" and whereas this kind of time is a definite hindrance, handicap and annoyance to those engaged in the production of food for war.

Therefore, be it resolved that this Fayette County Pomona Grange, acting for and in behalf of the subordinate Granges of Fayette County and for the vast majority of all agricultural workers in Fayette County, does hereby reaffirm the position taken one year ago during the controversy about "fast time," namely, that they will actively oppose, any movement by any group to substitute Daylight Savings Time for the LEGAL TIME of the State of Ohio.

Fayette Grange at its regular meeting February 15, 1945, adopted the above resolution without a dissenting vote. The subject of boycotting of merchants was not even mentioned.

WHEAT IS SAFE IN THIS AREA REPORTS STATE

Low Places Where Water and Ice Remained Chief Places Damaged

Fayette County's wheat crops, fears for the safety of which were general when the sheet of snow and ice covered it for so many weeks, came through the trying ordeal in very good condition, according to reports from many farmers throughout the county.

In some fields where lowlands held the water from melting ice and snow, and the ice stood many inches deep over the area, considerable damage was caused. However this area is very small compared with the total wheat acreage.

Fayette County's wheat crops, fears for the safety of which were general when the sheet of snow and ice covered it for so many weeks, came through the trying ordeal in very good condition, according to reports from many farmers throughout the county.

In some fields where lowlands held the water from melting ice and snow, and the ice stood many inches deep over the area, considerable damage was caused. However this area is very small compared with the total wheat acreage.

RELIEF COSTS DECLINE; RECIPIENTS ON CLIMB

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17—(P)—Poor relief costs in Ohio declining a bit in January, although the number of recipients increased slightly.

A total of 11,630 persons were on the rolls, compared with 11,501 in December. The cost was $483,200 compared with $503,751 the month before. The reason, said the Welfare Department, was that clothing to carry indigent through the winter was bought in December.

Cryolite is a quartzlike substance the Eskimos thought was a special kind of ice.

THE WAR TODAY

—By DEWITT MACKENZIE—

We shall be far from wise if we dismiss as mere tub-thumping the exhortation by the Nazi Foreign Office to the German people to cast aside their "last scruples" and "to kill, murder and poison" their enemies.

That barbaric Hun of Hate fits the Hitlerian mentality like a glove, and there's small doubt that the Allied forces will encounter a great deal of this type of civilian "warfare". Just to make sure the population doesn't get out of hand, the German government yesterday placed most of the Reich under what amounts to martial law, and citizens showing "cowardice" will be subject to the death penalty.

We Americans are adaptable and I dare say we can accommodate the Germans if that's the way they want to play the game. There are well defined international laws of war governing the killing of enemy troops, or attempts to kill them, by civilians—and the invading forces are permitted to exact the penalty of quick death. There are less severe penalties for other forms of civilian obstruction.

In any event, we don't need to be afraid about our men lacking the firmness to deal with such situations. We had a couple of examples last September when American troops first crossed the German frontier. There was heavy sniping from houses in Wallendorf and in a neighboring village. It wasn't clear whether civilians were involved, but the Yanks burned every building in both places.

This destruction was necessary in order to ensure the safety of our men. It was recognized, however, that this also would serve to let the Germans know the Allies weren't taking any nonsense.

Even if the Hitlerites were normal minded folk we still should have to expect civilians to try to obstruct invasion. We should do it ourselves if the United States were invaded. The Poles have done it, and so have the rest of the unfortunate people whom Hitler overran.

However, the brand of resistance which the cracking and desperate Nazi government now demands belongs to the special type of savagery which Hitler has instilled in his people—or at least in the younger generation—through a long process of intensive education. The great massacres and tortures carried out under his regime are fair samples of the extremes to which the real Nazi is prepared to go.

Not all Germans have reverted to that state of barbarity, but a big percentage of them have accepted Hitler's doctrines. One notes that Hitler's inspiration—even from boyhood—has been drawn from the Prussian characteristics. The Prussian militarists always have represented the super-race in his abnormal mind—and the essence of Prussianism is intolerance, cruelty and aggression.

Supreme Commander Eisenhower has made clear to the German people through his proclamations what conduct he requires. A couple of months ago he warned them to avoid "suspicion of compliance" with secret Nazi efforts to obstruct the Allied military government. He told them their first duty was to remain "peaceable and orderly" and to continue their daily occupation if they were engaged in a lawful pursuit.

Another proclamation about the same time told the German public to beware of joining underground military organizations. He also warned the Nazis not to harm foreign workers (the 12,000,000 slaves) in Germany, declaring "grave penalties will fall on those who are guilty of treating them badly."

Thus both sides know what the position is. German civilians will be "for it", if they try to "kill, murder and poison" Allied troops.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID MRS. JOHN R. FOSTER

Funeral services were held for Mrs. John R. Foster of St. Louis, Mo., at the Presbyterian Church in Bloomingburg. Rev. John Glenn, pastor of the church, conducted the services, reading the favorite hymns, "Abide With Me" and "Crossing the Bar" and quoting from Whittier's poem "Gone."

The older residents of Fayette County will remember Mrs. Foster as Miss Belle Gunning, a very bright and much loved teacher. Sons of some of her former pupils acted as pallbearers.

There were many beautiful floral remembrances from friends, both here and St. Louis. Those from out of town attending the services were the sons, Louis A. Foster and wife of St. Louis, and Ralph A. Foster of New York City. Burial services in the Bloomingburg Cemetery were under the direction of the Ware Funeral Home of Chillicothe.

SHEEP OUT IN THE RAIN

I just passed a large bunch of sheep, out in the rain. They were crowding up around the pasture gate, and evidently waiting to be let into the barn. Some of them were "all tucked up" and they looked like they were wet to the skin, for the wool was parting on the back, and it doesn't take long for a sheep to get a wet fleece, when that happens. This needs no comment, but it suggests the value of an open shed in the sheep pasture, so they can get in out of the rain, if the owner is delayed in putting them into the barn.

'BAZOOKA MOUTH' SINGS LIKE HE FIGHTS - WITH EVERYTHING HE HAS GOT

The songs he has written have had widespread success among the troops and one, "The Tanks Go Rolling Along," is especially popular.

His major opus, however, has been lost forever. It was an impromptu recital of the history of the First Infantry Division. For two hours Maxie sang—taking the "Fighting First" through Africa, Sicily, France, Belgium and the Siegfried line—and never once repeated rhymes or tune. When it was over Maxie was exhausted and his audience limp.

"When the First Division marches into Berlin I will make up the song all over again and bring it up to date," says Maxie. Maxie loves his division like a wife. When it was a rough fight and losses are heavy, Maxie is disconsolate for days. He has been all the way with it and wears the bronze star.

Maxie can't understand why correspondents want to write about any other outfit.

Once when the First and Second divisions were fighting side by side, Maxie rode up with photographers who wanted to get the artillerymen in action.

"Better get those fellows over there," he said, "they are some of the best gunners in the Army." It was only after the pictures had been snapped that Maxie discovered to his consternation the artillerymen were wearing the Indian head patch of the Second Division instead of the famous big red one signia of his own.

"What a horrible mistake," said Maxie, "they are from the wrong division. Quick, tear up those pictures and we will start all over with some First Division gunners."

After the war Maxie wants to open a bar and grill in Upper East Manhattan. It will be called, of course, "The Red One." Maxie has a heart even bigger than his mouth. "I don't want to make much money," he says. "Just enough to keep me and the family. Whatever else is left in the kitty will go to entertain the boys."

COMING AT THE FEATURES THEATERS

PALACE THEATER
Drama with that old friend, "nostalgia" comes to the screen of the Palace Theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in "Freckles Comes Home," co-starring Johnny Downs and Gale Storm. Millions of reads of the celebrated Freckles series, stories of Hoosier background, will enjoy this latest in that celebrated tradition. Also to be shown will be "Music in Manhattan" featuring Anne Shirley, Dennis Day and Phillip Terry, which is said to be one of the year's cleverest comedies with music. When a girl's engaged to be married, it's disconcerting to have a strange man appear and claim to be her husband. On this theme hinges the sparkling fun of the film.

Wednesday and Thursday, Hedy Lamarr and Walter Pidgeon in "White Cargo," the story of a white man's romance with a half-breed native girl in the tropics, will be shown.

Friday and Saturday, Sunset Carson, all-around favorite cowboy star will be seen at the Palace Theater in "Sheriff of Camarion."

STATE THEATER
Adventure romance on a lavish, technicolor scale is the eye-filling "Gypsy Wildcat" starring Maria Montez, Jon Hall and Peter Coe at the State Theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The celebrates her birthday then. Sonny Laymon, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Laymon, is the weekend guest of his cousin, Warner Lee, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Timmons in Chillicothe.

Having stopped here for a few days with his wife who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Mable Blessing, Major Harry D. Kurtz has gone to Denver, Colorado, for a public relations conference before returning to Bioliki, Miss. His wife will join him at their home in Mississippi, having visited her for the past several weeks while Major Kurtz was on official business in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hill and son, Pete, will have a Saturday evening dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gerard of Dayton.

Mrs. T. N. Wain has returned to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Buchanan and Mr. Buchanan, having spent several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Clyde Parsons and Mr. Parsons in Akron.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fox of Dayton arrived Friday evening to be weekend visitors of Mr. Charles McLean and Jimmy Fox.

Mrs. John F. Otis and children, Elizabeth and John, plan to leave Sunday for Chicago, Ill., where they will join Captain Otis for an indefinite stay.

Mr. Robert Barnett left Friday for Arlington where he will be a weekend guest at the home of his brother, Edgar Barnett, Mrs. Barnett and daughter, Barbara.

picture tells the colorful story of a gypsy girl, storm center of love and hate, jealousy and greed. She is loved by two men—Jon Hall, dashing soldier of fortune, and Peter Coe, romantic gypsy. As she wavers between the two, Baron Tovar, murderous old robber, played by Douglass Dumbrill, places her in the position of either marrying him or sacrificing the lives of her beloved gypsy band.

Based on one of the most exciting of the Sir Arthur Conan Doyle stories, "The Six Napoleons," the movie "The Pearl of Death" tells of the theft of a fabulously valuable pearl and its eventual recovery. Between the time the pearl disappears and is found, however, many meet sudden and gruesome death, causing the jewel to become known as "The Pearl of Death." Also to be shown at the State Theater for Wednesday and Thursday is "Let's Go Steady," featuring June Preisser, Pat Parrish, Jack Moran, Jimmy Lloyd, Arnold Stang, Mel Torme with the Mel-tones, and Skinnay Ennis—all shine in their leading and supporting roles.

Friday and Saturday, Noah Berry, Jr., and Martha O'Driscoll will be shown at the State Theater in "Under Western Skies." Also will be chapter 11 of "The Great Alaskan Mystery" and a color cartoon.

FAYETTE THEATER
A gay and sparkling story about the fabulous North is the technical musical extravaganza, "Belle of the Yukon" in which Gypsy Rose Lee, Randolph Scott, Dinah Shore and Bob Burns star. A frank travesty on all gold-rush sagas, this adds color and music to a hilarious plot which concerns one Belle De Valle, who with a group of lovelies known as the Yukon Belles, arrives in the rip-snorting gold-rush town and finds herself in the midst of romance gone haywire, skullduggery and a touch of blackmail. All this, against a lavish musical background, replete with songs and dance routines and plenty of action, results in the sort of fun needed to thaw out any Alaskan community. This is the Sunday, Monday and Tuesday feature at the Fayette Theater.

Having been advertised with full page illustrations in Life, Liberty, Look, and other well-known magazines, "The Three Caballeros" will be presented Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday for the amusement of fans at the Fayette Theater. This technicolor film, introduces the most startling advancement in motion picture technique since the advent of sound; for the first time, just for fun, cartoon characters join hands with live singers and dancers, and the result is reported to "hold any audience spell-bound." The talents of Walt Disney produced the film which features Donald Duck; Joe Carioca, the jiving jitterbug; Panchito, a new character for a cocky Mexican casanova; and in the flesh—Aurora Miranda, Brazil's great singing and dancing star; Dora Luz, Mexican's sweetheart of song, and Carmen Molina,

Alice Davis Is Feted Friday at Surprise Party

A group of young women planned a surprise birthday party, Friday evening, in honor of Miss Alice Davis, who celebrates her birthday on Saturday, February seventeenth.

The guests assembled at the Goody Shoppe at six o'clock where they enjoyed an appetizing prepared three course steak dinner, after which the honor guest was showered with a number of lovely gifts by her friends.

After attending choir rehearsal at the North Street Church of Christ, the honor guest and other guests attended the Fayette Theater.

Those enjoying the affair with the honoree were Mrs. George Robinson, Jr., Mrs. Paul Thornhill, Misses Marcia Highley, Patty Cabbage, Christine Switzer, Marjorie Swartz, Mary Jane Hyer and Mrs. Homer Davis.

Mrs. Delbert Looker Hostess for Meeting

Twelve members and five guests of the Bloomingburg Comrades of the Second Mile met at the home of Mrs. Delbert Looker for the February meeting, when Mrs. Edgar McFadden was the assisting hostess. Two new members, Mrs. Frank Slager and Mrs. Glenn Heistand were present.

Mrs. Jesse Hagler, president of the organization, led the business meeting during which equal contributions to the Bloomingburg Presbyterian and Methodist Churches as well as the Red Cross were voted upon.

As this meeting climaxed an attendance contest sponsored by the organization, the side captioned by Mrs. Thomas Parrett was announced as the winner. The winning team will be feted by the team captioned by Mrs. Madison Swope.

The meeting date was also changed from the second Tuesday of every month to the second Monday. Mrs. Eloise Johnson had the devotions which were followed by a book review "The Indian in American Life," written by G. E. E. Linquist. This was given by Mrs. John Glenn in her own interesting and pleasing manner. At the conclusion, Mrs. Glenn was presented a gift in appreciation of her numerous kindnesses to the organization.

A cleverly planned contest was conducted for the members amusement, the prize going to Mrs. Theodore Kneisley. Included as guests were Mrs. Glenn.

FIRM OBSERVES FIFTY YEARS OF BUSINESS HERE

Wilson's Hardware Launched By Wesley W. Wilson at Farm Home

Founded at his farm home on the Greenfield road 50 years ago, by Wesley W. Wilson, the Wilson Hardware store will next week celebrate its golden anniversary with a special sale.

One of the oldest business enterprises in Washington C. H., the Wilson Hardware business started when Wesley W. Wilson, father of Willard Wilson, and grandfather of Billie Wilson, heads of the store at the present time, first became a farmer agent for the Page Fence Company.

At that time comparatively little wire fence was being built in Fayette County, and many farmers regarded it as a little too new-fangled for them, and still held to the old rail fences.

However, Wesley W. Wilson, who retired from business in 1935 after he had watched the venture grow from a very meager start to one of the largest businesses of its kind in this part of Ohio, built his first fence for Reid Engle, and the demand for fence grew apace with the result that the Page Company furnished him with a special wagon, horses and construction equipment for fence building, and, assisted by his sons and other workmen, he proceeded to build hundreds of miles of Page fence throughout the community.

Woven wire fence was a new thing 50 years ago, as many of the older residents recall.

In doing fence building, Mr. Wilson always did just a little more than his customers expected because he believed in giving honest service, and he was always known as a man whose word was as good as a written contract.

While yet conducting business from his farm home, he came into the city on Saturdays, and sold fences.

Then he brought a home-made desk into the city and placed it in a small room back of what is now Johnny Wilson's Tin Shop, on West Court Street.

After sometime in that location, Mr. Wilson, with his uncle, Sam Wilson opened a shop on South Main Street in the room now occupied by the Summers Wall-paper store and the firm handled buggies for several years.

In 1901 J. G. Williams erected the small brick building on the Court House Alley, and Wesley W. Wilson used it for his office, stock room, and the adjacent lot for his fence and post storage space.

He occupied the premises until 1909 then moved to the old frame residence property that stood on the corner of West Court and Hinde Street where the present large Wilson Hardware building is located, and used the space back of the frame structure for storing, fencing and posts.

During the latter part of this time his son, Willard was office and sales manager.

In 1916 the Wilsons purchased the lot where part of the present building stands, and erected the 24 foot wide structure occupied by the Rationing Board, still using the old frame structure on the corner.

Willard Wilson worked for several years in building fence before taking over the office work.

It was in the year 1916 when the corner property was purchased that the third generation member of the firm, Billie Wilson was born, and very early became actively associated with his father in the business. Wesley W. Wilson died in 1938. His widow, now nearly 92 years of age, is still living.

As the firm grew in importance, farmers urged that general line of farm machinery be handled, and about the time that father and son formed partnership in 1917, a line of farm machinery was offered.

When the present building was erected, in 1923 a large line of hardware was also added, and the venture was unaugmented with a large corn and grain show that was featured each year for a number of years.

It was corn exhibited in one of these shows that was taken to the International Exposition at Chicago, won the $1,000 award and resulted in organization of the Fayette County Seed Improvement Association. The firm built the building occupied by the Montgomery Ward and Co. Store in 1928.

The Wilson Company has also branched out into new fields and each year does a huge business in farm equipment, fencing, hardware and other lines.

THREATENS WIFE AND KILLS SELF WITH SHOTGUN

Leslie C. Michael Ends His Life at Home Near Connor School

After threatening to kill his wife and himself with a shotgun while he was intoxicated, Friday afternoon, Leslie Clarence Michael, 65, farmer, residing near the Connor schoolhouse in southwestern Fayette County, killed himself at his home about 3:30 P.M.

Sheriff Orland Hays and Coroner N. M. Reiff were called to the scene late in the afternoon and obtained the story of the near double tragedy, from Michael's widow, children, and Mrs. Michael's father, William Anders.

The officers were told that Michael had arrived home in an intoxicated condition about 2:30 P.M. Friday and told his wife that he was "going to end it for both of us."

Mrs. Michael took her small children and hurried to the home of her father a quarter of a mile distant.

Michael obtained a shotgun and went to the Anders' home, forcing an entrance.

William Jean, 14, his eldest daughter, talked with him and when he still insisted upon killing his wife, the daughter struggled with him, and the gun was discharged in the house, tearing a large hole in a couch.

Having no more shells, Michael said he was going back home, get shells, and "finish the job."

About 4:30 William Anders stopped at the Michael home, went inside, and found Michael slumped in a chair with the right side of his head torn away by the discharge of the shotgun, which was on the floor. He had used a table fork to press the trigger.

In addition to his widow he is survived by six small children, and a brother, James E. Michael, of Lakewood, Fla.

Michael's body was taken to the Littleton Funeral Home in Sabina, and services probably will be held Monday forenoon.

ANNUAL DINNER OF FARMERS AND BUSINESS MEN

Highlight of Corn Show Draws Nearly 250 Friday Night

Always the highlight of the annual Fayette County Corn and Seed Show, the annual banquet of farmers and business men, held at the American Legion Hall Friday night, attracted nearly 250 persons and proved one of the most enjoyable events of the series held.

The annual banquets bring the farmers and business men together for congenial visiting and an evening of general enjoyment. This time the business men were hosts to their farmer friends.

The dinner was served by the American Legion Auxiliary, with Mrs. Emerson Chapman, general chairman; Mrs. Charles Bryant, dining room chairman, and Mrs. Howard Fogle, kitchen chairman. These chairmen were assisted by more than two dozen members of the Auxiliary.

H. H. (Dutch) Denton, implement dealer and general chairman of the Business Men's Committee, was master of ceremonies, and by his wit and informality, performed his duties most admirably.

Preceding the meal and at other times during the evening, W. S. Paxson, with Warren Schleich at the piano, led the singing of various familiar songs, opening with "America," and all took part and sang with a spirit born of utmost good fellowship.

Denton introduced various persons at the opening of the after-dinner session, including Harry Silcott, Fayette County War Board chairman; Loren Hynes, master of the Fayette County Grange; Charles Shasteen, corn show judge; Bill Weaver, corn show auctioneer, and others, and also expressed his deep appreciation to all who had made the corn show and dinner meeting a success.

Robert Case, president of the Fayette County Seed Improvement Association, was introduced, and spoke briefly, stating that there were 32 more entries in this year's show than last, and expressed the hope that the hobby show could be built up for next year, and also more corn growers make exhibits.

Paul Sheppard, vice president of the association, was also introduced.

Denton said that in looking over the large number of men present he could not tell the difference between farmers and business men, and that apparently they were all alike.

He then had each business man to introduce his guests, and this proved interesting.

Secretary Elba Carson of the Seed Improvement Association, read a list of the awards made at the Corn and Grain Show.

W. W. Montgomery, county agricultural agent, presented the loving cup, given each year to the sweepstakes winner of the show, to Roger Coe, this year's winner.

He presented the First National Bank cup to John Cannon for having the best single ear of the show.

Then came the big treat of the evening when Carroll Halliday introduced Thurman (Dusty) Miller, widely known humorist, of Wilmington, to keep the men in an uproar of laughter during his entire address, as his spontaneous wit and humor rolled forth throughout his address.

The speaker also left much for thought among those gathered for the dinner, by giving bits of philosophy and facts that strongly impressed his listeners.

Miller told the men that over a wide area where he talks to farm groups, he is asked questions about Fayette County, which is nationally known for its fine corn and livestock achievements throughout the years, and said he had told many audiences of the unusual business men-farmer get-togethers in this community.

His general theme was "help the other fellow."
